TITO MAY DEFY U. S. 48-HOUR ULTIMATUM

HIS PRIDE: Not much bigger than his calf, James Livingston, Bellville R. D. 1, brought the animal to the Richland county fair early today. He's learning about calves as a member of the 4-H club.

Youth Takes Over At Fair

3 SWIMMERS MINE SHIP IN HAIFA HARBOR

Daring Attackers Blast Hole In British Ship as Threat of New Violence Grows.

JERUSALEM — (AP) — Swimming saboteurs using limpet mines blew a hole eight feet long and three feet wide below the waterline of the British troopship Empire Rival in Haifa bay shortly before midnight last night, but failed to sink her the government announced today.

The announcement came only a short time after British troops moved into the all Jewish city of Tel Aviv and four other towns in Palestine in the wake of new Jewish underground threats of violence.

Sight 3 Swimmers.

"Three swimmers were observed around the stern of the ship and the military guard aboard opened fire on them, though apparently without effect," the announcement said, in describing the attempt to sink the Empire Rival, which had just returned from transporting a second load of illegal Jewish refugees to Cyprus.

"Approximately a half hour later two explosions took place and the after hold of the Empire Rival began to fill with water. The bulkheads which had been closed held and the next hold remained clear of water."

After an investigation by divers the 7,045-ton vessel moved into shallow water under her own power. No immigrants were aboard at the time and no casualties were reported among crew members.

Military and police sources expressed belief that the attack was staged by Haganas Palmach, the striking force of that Jewish underground organization, and advanced the theory that it had been carried out "as a gesture to show the military it could be done."

Continue Checkup.

Meanwhile, the military conducted a spot identity check in several quarters of Jerusalem shortly before noon today, throwing up roadblocks of barbed wire manned by Bren gun carriers. Traffic was jammed on several streets while soldiers checked identities and searched cars.

The roadblocks were moved from place to place every half hour or so under a new practice of making "surprise" checks.

Boys, Girls Enliven Grounds

Two-Day Exhibit Climax to Summer's Work of 4-H Clubs.

It's Fair Day!

And to hundreds of Richland county boys and girls that meant the climax of a summer's work on 4-H club livestock, clothing, food and crop projects.

Hundreds of them early moved into the county fair grounds with their exhibits for the annual two-day event, opening at 1:30 p. m.

Laughter and youthful gaiety transformed the drab old fair ground buildings, badly in need of paint, into a place alive where youngsters thrilled to the responsibility of exhibiting and the hope for recognition.

* * *

Renter Fails To Move.

Madison and Lucas schools moved their exhibits into the school building yesterday, while the Senior Grange and five juvenile granges set up their booths in the Art Hall.

All of the 4-H exhibits also were crowded into the Art Hall because a renter of the building normally used failed to move some stored equipment.

By 10 a. m. the cattle exhibits, mostly dairy, had overflowed from the cattle barn into the sheep barn.

In addition to the hundreds of 4-H exhibits, Lucas, Bellville, and Butler schools will have vocational agriculture exhibits.

* * *

Physician In Hospital.

An unexpected problem arose when Dr. W. B. Wild, city-county health commissioner, entered General hospital for minor surgical treatment. Dr. Wild was to have examined health contestants tomorrow, and fair officials had located no official who would consent to make the examinations.

Today's program included a style revue at 1:30 p. m., demonstration contests at 2:30 and a one-hour show by the Bit and Spur riding club at 4:30 p. m.

An exhibitor's party is scheduled for 7:30 p. m. at Johns park during which the 4-H Queen and four attendants, selected by balloting in the afternoon, will be crowned.

The Bellville high school band scheduled concerts at various times this afternoon. While no musical program is planned for tonight, exhibits will be open.

Tomorrow's program includes livestock judging from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m., and health examinations at 10 a. m.

The livestock show ring will be in front of the livestock barns.

B-29 Ready For Hop to North Pole

SEATTLE —(INS)— A B-29 Superfortress, stripped down to a "flying gas tank," was being readied today for an attempted world record hop from Hawaii to Cairo, Egypt, via the North Pole—a distance of 10,000 miles.

Details of the attempted flight were disclosed to newsmen at Seattle by Col. C. S. "Bill" Irvine, of St. Paul, Neb., who will pilot the Superfort.

A record takeoff will be made next week from Oahu with the polar plane creaking under a 74-ton load of 10 crew members, news correspondents and a tankcar load of gasoline.

PROTEST NOTE DELIVERY MADE BY PATTERSON

Blistering Communication Raps Yugoslavian Attack on U. S. Airmen.

(By United Press)

American Ambassador Richard C. Patterson flew to Bled today to confer with Marshal Tito, while Yugoslav sources in London predicted their government would reject the United States' 48-hour ultimatum for the release of interned American airmen.

Patterson, en route to the Belgrade airport, travelled through streets plastered with gaudy posters calling up Yugoslav military classes through 1920.

His meeting with Tito was expected to bring the crisis to an immediate head, but London Yugoslavs maintained their government would reject the stern U. S. note because there was "absolutely no grounds" for consideration of the dispute by t United States security counc as threatened in the ultimatum.

* * *

Plans Fast Action.

It was believed that the ambassador would get Tito's first reaction to the American ultimatum, issued last night, and rush it to official Washington circles.

The note, written in blistering language, gave the Belgrade government until 11 p. m. (E.D.T.) tomorrow to hand over the imprisoned survivors of two unarmed army planes forced down by Yugoslav Gurns, or have this country take the matter to the United Nations.

No one was willing to predict just how far Russia would go, or just how actively she had supported Tito's moves up to now, but almost all informed observers agreed that Moscow at least has encouraged the Yugoslavs to adopt a strong anti-American line.

* * *

Pulls No Punches.

The United States has seldom used more sarcastic or caustic wordage in dealing with a friendly power. The note pinned on Yugoslav officials the responsibility for the death of "some if not all" of five crew members in the second plane forced down on Aug. 19. It was reported previously that three of the five airmen were killed. Two parachuted.

The not accused Yugoslavia of:

1. "A plain violation of the obligations resting upon Yugoslavia under the charter of the United Nations not to use force except in self-defense.

2. "Without the slightest justification in international law;

3. "An offense against the law of nations and the principles of humanity."

Should the matter go to the security council with the possibility of a Russian veto on a decision unfavorable to Yugoslavia, it appeared that the matter might stir up another serious crisis for the United Nations.

ACCORD SPURS HOPE FOR LAKE STRIKE PEACE

Union Members Preparing to Vote on New Terms Offered By One Shipping Firm.

DETROIT—(AP)—Hope rose today for imminent settlement of the eight-day-old Great Lakes shipping strike with announcement that a "tentative understanding" had been reached between negotiators for the National Maritime Union and Standard Oil Company of Indiana.

Government Conciliator Noel P. Fox disclosed in Chicago late Wednesday that union members there would receive the agreement for a ratification vote today.

He declared the terms would not be made public until the union membership had voted. The company earlier this week turned down a union offer to accept a 44-hour work week instead of its original 40-hour demand.

Fox said that the agreement would affect only Standard Oil's five tankers. However, there was some indication it might prove the basis for settlement between the NMU and the 16 other strike-affected shipping companies.

The first break in the walkout followed a flareup of violence in Duluth, Minn., and a company appeal for President Truman's intervention.

Twenty pickets were injured, two of them hospitalized, in the Duluth melee which started when 65 policemen moved in on some 90 pickets who had blockaded an automobile.

Nine men taken into custody by police were freed without any charges being filed. The picket line was set up again today after city officials and union leaders agreed that peaceful picketing would be permitted.

Meanwhile, the Cleveland Tankers, Inc., of Cleveland; Lake Tankers, Inc., New York, and Great Lakes Transport Corp., Detroit, wired an appeal to the president to "take prompt action to require the NMU to live up to its agreements" to operate Great Lakes vessels until Dec. 10, 1946, under terms of their contracts.

BUYS LUCAS TELEPHONE PROPERTY FOR $1,200

With only a handful of spectators looking on, C. H. Bolton of Steamburg, N. Y., bought the Lucas Telephone company on his lone bid of $1,200 today at public auction at the Richland county courthouse.

The sale will not actually be completed until approved by Richland county common pleas court. Bolton said he will begin immediate operation of the little company of 170 subscribers as soon as the sale is confirmed.

The new owner of the company, which was abandoned last October when the former owner, George Hubler, disappeared, is as prepared to give the company improved service, Bolton said. He is the owner of two small telephone companies in New York and has crews and equipment ready to make repair services.

Bolton bought the Lucas company at a figure which was a little more than a third of the indebtedness against the company.

Claims of creditors, court costs, receivers fees, and appraisal fees against the company add up to approximately $3,400, Henry P. Huston, attorney for the receivers, said.

Of this amount $1,467.68 was claimed due Author-Farmer Louis Bromfield, who has been responsible for keeping the company operating for many months.

SELL LIQUOR DESPITE FAIR

Mansfield Dealers Report They Have Received No Order to Close.

Tavern proprietors in Mansfield continued to sell intoxicants today as the Richland county junior fair got under way.

Members of the County Permit Holders' association said they had received no orders to close under a 58-year-old state law prohibiting the sale of liquor within a two-mile radius of county fairs.

Yesterday G. C. Wehinger, outgoing secretary of the Permit Holders association, said an injunction would be sought to restrain officers from enforcing the law, but the county clerk's office said that no action had been taken.

Both Police Chief Meade K. Bates and Sheriff Frank E. Robinson said their offices would take no action against violators of the law, dug up recently by the WCTU.

Chief Bates said that until the Columbus authorities get the matter straightened out and issue a definite statement on the status of the law his office would take no steps toward enforcing it.

Meanwhile, the state liquor control department decided today to risk having the manager of its store in Marion arrested for violating the old law.

Martin M. Mohr, the manager, said he had been instructed to keep the store closed through Friday, when the Marion county fair ends.

The store was closed Tuesday on orders of common pleas Judge Paul D. Smith, despite an attorney general's ruling that the old law did not apply to state stores.

Charles Schnurr, assistant attorney general assigned to the liquor department, said in Columbus yesterday that the store would be reopened immediately.

But, outside the store stood policemen assigned to obtain evidence in event liquor was sold.

COUNTY SOAKED

Showers Brighten Outlook For Fall Crops.

Continued cool weather with a hint of fall in the air is in prospect for the Mansfield area tonight and tomorrow. It will be generally fair and rather cool tonight and Friday, the forecast said.

Thundershowers brought Mansfield about a quarter of an inch of rain last night, giving crops another boost and helping to revive pastures and lawns.

From a high of 80 degrees yesterday the mercury dropped to 58 early today. The rain was confined to the Lake Erie area with Toledo getting nearly a half inch.

State Patrolmen Want Better Deal

Members of the state highway patrol want a better deal.

Col. George Mingle, superintendent of the state police, said in Columbus today, according to the United Press, that a round robin letter was being circulated among patrolmen requesting improved hour and working conditions. Highway patrolmen stationed in Mansfield withheld comment.

Highway patrolmen work 12 to 14 hours a day, five days a week. Mingle said. Emergencies often call them back to duty. The legislature this year voted a boost in pay to $176 a month.

ASSAILS COURT IN JEWEL CASE

WAC Captain's Counsel Asks to Move Trial Out of Military Hands.

FRANKFURT —(INS)— Defense counsel for WAC Capt. Kathleen Nash Durant, accused of complicity in the theft of the Kronberg jewels, today sought disqualification of the military court which is trying her.

After the court was sworn in at the start of the trial Lieut. Col. John S. Dwinell, chief counsel, made a strong effort to have the "court find itself without jurisdiction to try the defendant."

Col. Dwinell claimed it can be proved by documentary evidence that his client has held civilian status since she ended her terminal leave from the army last May 30.

He alleged Capt. Durant had been held illegally and forcefully transported from Chicago, where she was apprehended, to Virginia and then to Germany in violation of her constitutional rights.

The charge against Capt. Durant is that of "liberating" the jewels of the house of Hesse from a concealed crypt in the basement of Kronberg castle.

Her husband, Col. Jack W. Durant who is also implicated in the theft of the $1,500,000 worth of precious stones, was not brought into the courtroom in the Frankfurt community center for today's proceedings.

'High Pressure' Living Chief Cause of Death

"High pressure" living caused more deaths in Mansfield during the first six months of 1946 than any other cause, the city-county health department reported today.

The same cause, diseases of the arteries, climbed into second place in rural Richland county. It was sixth in 1945, Dr. W. B. Wild, commissioner, said, explaining that diseases of the arteries usually are the result of "high pressure" living.

Strokes caused most deaths in the rural regions and, Dr. Wild said, many such deaths can be partly traced to overwork, strain, worry or high pressure living.

Diseases of the arteries held ninth place in the city last year. In 1939, before the war, diseases of the arteries didn't even rank among the first 10 death causes.

In the city, cancer climbed into second place from third. Heart disease, No. 1 last year, fell to fifth for the first six months of this year. This was due more to an increased number of deaths from other causes than a falling off of the heart disease rate, Wild said.

Automobile accidents, 14th killer last year, was ninth in the city for the first six months. They accounted for seven deaths. Eighteen non-auto deaths placed that cause in seventh place.

* * *

Causes Listed In Order.

A list in order of the leading causes of deaths in Mansfield, followed by the total and a breakdown by male and female, follows:

Diseases of the arteries, 47 deaths, 28 male, 19 female; cancer, 30, 15, 15; cerebral hemorrhage (stroke), 29, 15, 14; Bright's disease, 29, 15, 14; heart disease, 23, 16, 7; congenital defects, 18, 16, 2; non-auto accidents, 18, 16, 2; tuberculosis 10, 7, 3; automobile accidents, 7, 6, 1; bronchial pneumonia, 6, 5, 1; lobar pneumonia, 5, 4, 1.

The county death certificate records for the first six months show that 27 persons died of strokes, 26 of diseases of the arteries, 24 of heart disease, 14 of cancer, 11 of Bright's disease, and 9 of non-auto accidents.

Acute alcoholism accounted for only two deaths in the city during the first six months of this year.

Madison High Opens Sept. 3 For Half Day

Madison high school will open for a half day Tuesday, Sept. 3, and will begin a full schedule the following day, Principal Wayne W. Miller announced today. Schools in Mansfield open Sept. 4.

Returning to its pre-war schedule, the school will open at 9 a. m. The morning period will end at 12. Afternoon classes will be from 1 to 4 p. m.

The high school office will be open from 9 to 11:30 a. m. and 1 to 3 p. m. Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of next week for pupils who want to change their schedules and for registration of pupils recently moved into the district.

FILES TEST CASE

Government Sues to Decide Foreman's Union Issue.

WASHINGTON—(UP)—The government took steps here to test in the courts the question of whether supervisors and foremen have the right to organize as "employes" under the National Labor Relations act.

Vice Adm. Ben Moreell, coal mines administrator, directed District 50 of the United Mine Workers (AFL) yesterday to file with the NLRB a charge that the Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. has refused to bargain with District 50 on working conditions of supervisors and foremen in two of its mines.

This will have the effect of throwing into the courts the fundamental issue of the right of supervisors to be organized as employes.

VISITS BERMUDA

British Officials Give Warm Welcome to President.

HAMILTON, Bermuda —(INS)— President Truman arrived in Bermuda at 9 a. m. (EST) today as his vacation cruise aboard the yacht Williamsburg assumed an international aspect.

Mr. Truman stood on the Williamsburg's bridge to watch the progress of the yacht through the channel to the U. S. naval operating base, where the presidential vessel was berthed.

Formalities of a hearty welcome on the part of British officials were the first order of business, although the president requested that they be held to a minimum.

Philippine Fight Spread In Luzon

MANILA—(INS)—Fighting between Philippine government forces and armed peasant groups was reported spreading throughout the central plain of Luzon today.

The government threw heavy armor into the struggle and several towns defended by Hukbalahap peasant army adherents were reportedly razed by artillery.

OPA Grants Hikes On Coal, Oranges; Prepares to Use Ax On Meat Prices

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The cost of coal and oranges is going up, but lower meat prices will go into effect September 9.

Naming the date when retail meat ceilings are to apply again, OPA Chief Paul Porter also pledged an all-out drive against black markets.

As this campaign developed, OPA authorized a price boost of 30 cents a ton for hard coal and for coke, and an increase of 18 cents a ton for soft coal.

These retail price hikes, effective tomorrow, are required by the new price control law, OPA said.

On oranges, maximum prices in retail stores will climb about a half cent a pound as soon as grocers receive supplies at higher prices authorized for producers.

But even while the parade of price increases continued, OPA went ahead with an assignment it rarely handles any more—a price cut.

Porter reaffirmed at a news conference that the new meat ceilings which the price decontrol board ordered restored will be at or near June 30 figures.

The board said meat prices had climbed from 20 to 80 percent after controls lapsed June 30.

Porter also announced a price increase of seven cents a hundred pounds for flour, effective Friday, to offset higher parity prices for wheat, which remains ceiling-free along with all other major grains.

This price hike is expected to raise retail flour ceilings about one cent on a 10-pound sack, on top of a cent a pound increase allowed early this month.

However, Porter said that bread prices, raised a cent a loaf Aug. 2, will be cut by the same amount when the agriculture department lifts restrictions on the milling of wheat, perhaps this fall.

Nelson, Shoemaker Share PGA Honors

By HAL WOOD, UP Sports Writer.

PORTLAND, Ore.—Defending Champion Byron Nelson, playing some of the finest golf of his brilliant career, had to share playing honors in the National PGA tournament here today with little-known Dick Shoemaker, 35-year-old shotmaker from Pittsburgh, Pa.

While Nelson was advancing through the first pair of match play contests with 10-under-par golf, Shoemaker was disposing of a pair of favorites—and the British, American and Canadian Open champions were shunted to the sidelines.

Shoemaker turned the big trick of the day by defeating former champion Vic Ghezzi, 1-up, in the second round after eliminating Sam Byrd in the opener, 3-2. Byrd the former New York Yankee baseball player, lost in the finals of the PGA championship to Nelson last year.

Still complaining of an ailing back, Nelson played some of his finer golf in defeating Frank Rodia, San Diego, in the first game, 8 and 7.

In his second match he eliminated host professional Larry Lamberger, 3 and 2.

George Schneiter the clever professional from Ogden, Utah, gave British Open Champion Sam Snead one of the worst lickings of his life in winning a 6-5 decision

Ed Oliver, Chicago, knocked off Clay Gadde, Cincinnati, 2-up, then trimmed Dick Metz, Arkansas City, Kan., 3-1

E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, Little Rock, Ark., the first day qualifying leader, came through with wins over Joe Mozel, Portland, 6-4, and Toney Penna, Cincinnati, 1-up

Chandler Harper, Portsmouth, Va., eliminated Bob Gutwein, Cincinnati, 5-3, and Jimmy Thomson, Chicopee, Miss., 2-1.

Jim Turnesa, Mamaroneck, N. Y., won over Ewing Pomeroy, Louisville, Ky., 5-4, then bumped Henry Ransom, Houston, Tex., 1-up

Nelson meets Herman Barron of White Plains, N. Y., today.

Probably no one was more surprised than this writer when I found out yesterday that Barnes Manufacturing drew the Ferguson State Auditors in the men's state softball tournament at Springfield

If backer Joe Ferguson was to have his name on a ballot here today, he would probably lose a lot of votes.

Seriously, the Auditors, annually one of the state's strongest outfits, are not the pre-tourney favorites.

* * *

Tournament Manager Grant Ulen informed me over the phone Wednesday that the Columbus nine is going to be given quite a battle by several other clubs.

* * *

This year the Auditors played in the National Softball league and, due to a special ruling on the part of the National Softball association, the league teams were allowed to participate in their state tournaments without taking part in district play.

A party of around 60 players and fans will leave tomorrow afternoon for Springfield.

Sixteen teams will compete this year, making it the largest state tourney ever held.

100 Golfers Start Play Today For Ohio Seniors Golf Title

By HAL CLAWSON

Although last night's rain sort of dampened the Westbrook Country club course, close to one hundred of the state's "old men" of the fairways started play this morning in the Ohio Seniors Golf association tournament.

The two-day medal play tourney continues through Friday.

Eighteen holes were to be played today with another 18 set for tomorrow.

Frank Pelton, Cleveland, is on hand to defend the title he won last year when he won a playoff with R. A. Stranahan, veteran Toledo linksman.

Slightly cool wind this morning wasn't figured to have much effect on the men who have been playing golf in all kinds of weather.

Set for tonight at the club is the annual dinner open only to the association members.

L. W. Olson, Mansfield, is chairman of the tournament committee

Former Cardinals Spoil Birds' Bid

By JOE REICHLER, AP Sports Writer.

The St. Louis Cardinals, who have been chasing the Brooklyn Dodgers practically from the start of the season, might be occupying the top spot in the National league today were it not for former teammates now with rival clubs.

The latest ex-Card to help subdue his former teammates is Si Johnson, 38-year-old pitcher of the Boston Braves, who wore a St. Louis uniform from 1936 through 1938.

The veteran righthander turned back the Cardinals 4-3 last night under the lights at St. Louis. The defeat pushed the Cards back a game and a half to the pace-setting Dodgers who whipped the last place Pittsburgh Pirates 8-2 in the afternoon.

Johnson joins a host of other ex-Cards who have been directly responsible for St. Louis losses this season Mort Cooper, Johnson's pitching mate, owns two triumphs over the Cards and Pitchers Harry Gumpert of Cincinnati and Al Jurisich of the Phillies have one victory apiece.

Oscar Judd, a former member of the Card organization and now with the Phils, has beaten them three times while Pittsburgh's Fritz Ostermueller has done it twice and the Phils Ken Raffensberger once

Among the batsmen, Walker Cooper, sold by St. Louis to the New York Giants for $175,000 last winter, twice hammered home runs to beat his former mates. Johnny Mize and Buddy Blattner, also of the Giants, each beat the Cards this year with four-base knocks, as did Carden Gillenwater and Johnny Hopp, both now with the Braves.

Rebounding from their shutout defeat at the hands of the Pirates Tuesday night, the Dodgers landed on Lefthander Ken Heintzelman and his two successors for 11 hits, three by Dixie Walker, to defeat the cellar-dwellers Southpaw Joe Hatten, although issuing six walks and tagged for eight safeties, went the route for his eighth victory.

Dave Ferriss, the Boston Red Sox' sensational sophomore, hurled his 22nd mound triumph, but needed help after giving up 14 hits in five and one-third innings. Staked to an 11-1 lead over the St. Louis Browns after two innings, Ferriss was banged for six more runs before being removed in the sixth and the Sox went on to win 12-9.

The New York Yankees swept a doubleheader from the Chicago White Sox, 10-1 and 5-4. Spud Chandler won his 16th in the opener. Joe DiMaggio, with a homer in each game, extended his consecutive hitting streak to 13 games.

The lowly Philadelphia Athletics made it two in a row over the third place Detroit Tigers when Phil Marchildon outpitched Virgil Trucks 4-1 with a neat seven-hitter.

Rookie Outfielder Del Ennis' ninth inning home run enabled the Phillies to eke out a 1-0 victory over the Cubs in Chicago and Early Wynn pitched Washington to a 4-3 victory over Cleveland at the capital last night.

Johnny Hetki pitched and batted the Cincinnati Reds to a 7-2 victory over the New York Giants. The 24-year-old rookie righthander allowed only seven hits and made three himself, batting in two runs.

SAYS SCHOOLS NEED SPECIAL DOCTOR, NURSE

Health Commissioner Says Bigger Staff Needed to Provide Proper Care.

With Mansfield schools being readied for opening in less than two weeks, Dr. W. B. Wild, city-county health commissioner, today described local health programs for pre-school and school age children as "good, in general," but "wanting, in particular."

He leveled criticism at a state law which allocates money to schools on a pupil-attendance basis. He said it causes school officials to work "at odds" with health officials.

Schools here also need a special doctor and a nurse before they can be rated first-class from a health-improvement standpoint, he said.

In addition, he saw the need for local specialists to shunt mentally-retarded pupils into the right classifications and for a dental clinic for pre-school children.

Likes Special Classes.

Dr. Wild commended the fact that Mansfield maintains special classes for retarded and crippled children and the fact that tutors are provided for bed-ridden children.

"But we need local psychiatrists so that we won't have to send retarded children to agencies outside the city in order to determine what type of training or treatment they require," he said.

Set to open again with regular schools Sept. 3 are special classes for crippled students and those who are hard of hearing, have poor vision or who are mentally slower than other pupils, the doctor said.

Special clinics and programs are also provided either locally or in other Ohio cities for treatment of seriously crippled children or those who are especially slow mentally.

Other special treatment is provided for children stricken with infantile paralysis and twice a month the city holds its own well-baby clinic.

"Most vitally needed are a doctor and a nurse to supervise exclusively the school health programs," he said. City nurses now double as school nurses, he said.

"Our present nurses have their hands full in controlling communicable diseases throughout the county and city. They shouldn't be required to over-see school health programs," he said.

In addition, he cited the need for improved instruction of teachers during their college training so that they will be able to "spot children who are sick and need immediate aid."

"If we had local psychiatrists who could readily tell us how mentally-slow children should be treated it would encourage more people to use the service," the doctor said.

"As it is now we must wait for monthly clinics held at Columbus before we can determine what treatment would be best for such a child," he said.

Hits State Law.

In criticizing the state pupil-attendance law, Dr. Wild said that it causes school officials, at times, to keep children in school who should be at home under medical treatment.

"Thus, the health official, in an attempt to improve the health of a community, urges that the child be confined to the home while the school official 'lobbies' for his attendance at school," the doctor declared.

He said that in an effort to stir school officials into campaigning for a change in the law, he has sent letters concerning it to county and city school superintendents.

Dr. Wild said that while the dental program for children of school age is "good," the city should establish a diagnostic dental clinic for children not of school age and for adults.

Black Marketeers Profit on Copies of Famous Paintings

HAMBURG —(U.P.)—Black marketeers are preying deliberately on the theory of huge profits in their trade to pass off copies of famous paintings as the genuine article offered for a quick gain.

The game is succeeding for patrons of the illegal art market can make no complaints.

"Just recently we heard of one old master for which a seven figure sum in marks was being asked," a civilian military official said.

"We made some discreet inquiries to get details of it—and then found we had the original, already on its way back home to the country from which it was taken."

Although that new twist has been added to the versatility of the black art marketeers, this is not to say that genuine old masters do not circulate.

Masters Change Hands.

Old masters looted from occupied countries during the war are changing hands for millions of marks in Germany's most profitable black market.

Sale of all pictures valued at more than a few hundred marks has been forbidden by a law designed to help authorities pin down and return the thousands of valuable paintings stored in secret hiding places.

Officials believe foreigners who have passports and can leave the country when they wish are the main "go-betweens."

It is estimated they handle a score or more items at a time.

Hundreds of less important pictures are handled at fantastic prices these days.

One British expert said 50,000 marks (equivalent to $4,484) had been paid for a canvas worth $20 in England.

Hamburg, Berlin and Cologne are the three big "trade" centers, each with a network of contacts spread over the zone.

Although many of the more valuable paintings have been returned to former occupied countries, many still are missing.

That is true of the famous De Seze tapestries — six hunting scenes—sold to the French government during the war. Pierre Laval ordered them sent to join Hermann Goering's private collection.

Latest of the big black art market deals intercepted by control commission authorities was that of Van de Velde's famed sea battle picture.

It was sent to Adolf Hitler by a Dutchman as a "present" in return for a passport to Switzerland. Hitler gave the painting to Doenitz and it passed into the hands of a Russian soldier during the battle of Berlin.

The Russian soldier sold it to a dealer for two bottles of gin.

The dealer has now put it on the black market for 600,000 (equivalent to $60,000).

PAYS FOR PANTS

INDIANAPOLIS—(U.P.)—The Indianapolis Safety Council has awarded Patrolman Harold Bucy $25 for damages sustained in line of duty. Bucy was chasing a speeding motorist on his motorcycle. The policeman had to stop suddenly and ripped the seat out of his pants.

The so-called cloudburst is caused by violent uprushes of air which prevents the condensing raindrops from falling to the ground until a large amount of water has gathered at high levels.

BUCYRUS BOND ISSUES NEAR TAX DEADLINE

Special Council Meeting May Be Needed to Get Levies in For Election.

BUCYRUS — Faced with proposals for two bond issues and one special levy, Bucyrus City council is expected to call a special meeting before the deadline for getting the taxing issues on the November ballot.

Issues under consideration are a $175,000 issue for an addition to city hospital, which voters turned down when it went on the ballot a year ago; a $150,000 street improvement program, and a two-tenths-mill levy for park improvement. Also under consideration is an issue for construction of a north side fire station, long sought by citizens, and industrialists north of the Pennsylvania railroad.

Also to come before voters in November will be the three-mill levy for school operation.

Meanwhile it became apparent this week the city's new standpipe may not be realized for some time owing to the difficulty of securing steel and because of the amounts of the bids received this week for the work, which city council labeled "too high".

Bids received indicated that the work would cost in the neighborhood of $90,000 which is $15,000 higher than council had expected to pay for the job.

The bids included construction of the standpipe and landscaping and improvement of the grounds. The program has been sent back to the city finance committee for further study. The standpipe was to have been erected at Warren and East streets.

Homeless Galion Youth Center Must Move Again—to City Hall

GALION—It's moving day again for the Galion Youth center.

The center was assured of a place to move Tuesday night when city council granted the use of the two rooms used by the Red Cross and the ration board during the war. Plans for moving were discussed at a meeting last night of the junior board of the Youth center, together with members and Mrs. W. R. Eckstein, who is a member of the senior board of directors and chaperone for the teen-agers.

Mrs. Eckstein said that the date for moving depends upon the time when a truck is available and also when the boys are free from football practices and work to help with the moving

For the past two months, the Youth center has been given temporary headquarters at the senior high gymnasium. Now that school is about to be resumed, it is necessary to secure a new place for the young people to spend leisure hours.

Equipment to be moved from the senior high gym includes ping pong tables, tables and chairs, the candy case, the soft drings refrigerator, the piano and the juke box.

The Youth center was organized in November, 1942 and later that winter was opened in the parish hall of Grace Episcopal church. Two months ago the group was moved into the senior high gym for the summer.

A popular place for teen agers to spend leisure hours, the center has sponsored special parties, hayrides, sleigh rides, wiener roasts, and dances with orchestras.

For some time the Youth center has needed a larger place, and from time to time the board of directors has tried to secure the Galion armory. It is not yet available, and the rooms at city hall, while not adequate, will do for the present. More than 200 young people enjoy the Youth center.

Mrs. Eckstein, a director, serves as chaperone and often is assisted by Mrs. C. F. Boyd.

The senior board of directors is headed by Marvin Adams who is superintendent of the Crawford county children's home. Chairman of the junior board is Joe McManes.

Serving everywhere reached by public transportation facilities.

FALLING TREND STILL CHILLS STOCK MARKET

Favorable Dividends Fail to Provide Traders With Buying Confidence.

NEW YORK — (AP) — Falling trends generally continued to chill today's stock market with American Telephone exceptionally weak.

The flow of pleasing dividends and earnings persisted but, as in the previous session, failed as a buying inspiration. Further selling again was blamed partly on growing wage-price problems, the cloudy foreign picture and the fear that some bearish news may be overhanging the list.

Telephone exhibited further softness in the wake of the company's huge financing program.

General Motors and Chrysler dipped to the lowest levels for 1946 to date. Backward were U. S. Steel, Youngstown Sheet, Sears Roebuck, U. S. Rubber, J. I. Case, Boeing, American Water Works, Allied Chemical, Kennecott, Santa Fe, N. Y. Central, Northern Pacific, National Distillers, Standard Oil (NJ) and Texas Co.

CHIANG OPENS NEW ATTACKS

Communists Put Blame For Mobilization on Drive By Nationalists.

NANKING—(U.P.)—Chinese communists will stop their general mobilization if Chiang Kai-Shek's troops will halt their new offensive now fanning out from Kaifeng, a Communist spokesman disclosed today.

Field dispatches said government troops under Chief-of-Staff Chen Cheng were smashing forward along a 100-mile front in Honan and Shantung provinces. Some 200,000 Communists were reported scurrying northward in retreat.

General Chen's sudden and powerful attack apparently was the central government's answer to the Communist "declaration of war" sounded Sunday by the Yenan and Kalgen radios.

Wang Ping-Nan, the Communist spokesman, said the mobilization of 3,000,000 regulars and reserve troops was in "full swing", but emphasized that it was a "defense" move.

Nationalist press reports said General Chen's troops had captured a 30-mile section of the railway between Lanfeng and Hinlung. The government was spreading out from Kaifeng, an important point on the rail line east to Suchow.

The Chinese Central daily news reported that "the fury of Communist attacks" on Tatung, 300 miles north of Kaifeng, and on Kaifeng itself, had been "completely blunted" by the new government offensive.

AZUSA, Calif.—(INS)—Naval intelligence and FBI investigators today pressed an inquiry into the fire and explosion at the Aerojet navy rocket plant which killed eight persons and injured at least 25 yesterday.

FIGHT SPREADS

Greek Troops Conduct Drive Against Guerillas.

ATHENS—(U.P.)—A large number of leftist guerilla fighters have been killed in battles with government troops engaged in a "mopping up" operation in the regions of Pindus and Olympus, an official communique said today.

Forty of the leftwing band of 500 have been taken prisoner, according to the announcement.

Meanwhile, as the date for the Greek plebiscite drew near, rightwing leaders in Thessaly denied that they had arrested or executed Constantine Vidalis, a journalist who has been missing for 10 days. It was presumed that Vidalis had been killed by armed monarchists.

'Mickey'--or Is It 'Minnie'--Mouse Gives Nightly Concert In City Home

Having a mouse in the house is bad enough, but to have one giving a nightly concert as well as raiding the pantry is worse.

That's the problem facing the George A. Levy family at 74 Sycamore street, where a singing mouse is on the loose.

Mrs. Levy said she's tried to catch the little serenader for two weeks, but it eludes traps.

"If anybody has a suggestion for catching it alive, I'd like to hear about it," Mrs. Levy said.

"The mouse sings like a canary, and it never starts until after dark and we want to sleep," she added.

The Levys would like to give the mouse a name, but they're not sure whether it's a Minnie or Mickey mouse. If they could catch it alive, they might make an attraction of it, Mrs. Levy said.

Science has reported a few "singing mice." They have shrill voices which carry about 25 feet and can become particularly annoying to light sleepers.

RESCUES THREE, TWO OTHERS DIE

Motorist Removes Unconscious Pair as Train Nears Stalled Auto.

CANTON, O.—(AP)—Two persons were killed and three injured yesterday in an auto-train collision. Another motorist "worked against time" to remove three of five unconscious persons from the wreckage of their auto stalled on the Pennsylvania Railroad track, state highway patrolmen reported.

The auto, driven by Kenneth Schwab, 21, of Canton, crashed into a halted freight train and stalled on the track. James Tolson, 25, of Canton approached the site a few minutes later and rescued Schwab and two other persons as a passenger train sped toward the vehicle, patrolmen said.

Tolson was unable to reach two other passengers before the second train struck the automobile, and the crash killed Arthur J. Boyajian, 20, and Betty Thompson, 21, both of Canton.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, THURSDAY, AUGUST 22, 1946

Memories of vacation days, 1946: Three blowouts, a boiling radiator, and the day the battery fell out of the car.

It appears to have been cold weather that caused President Truman to leave the coast of Maine, rather than fear of cruising in Republican waters.

Answering a question that is asked quite frequently, the date of the funeral of Hon. John Sherman, which was held in Mansfield, was October 25, 1900, the former senator having died in Washington, D. C., three days earlier.

Weaknesses In Newly-Built Houses

WHILE EMPHASIS is being placed on expanding the residential construction program, so as to relieve the acute housing shortage, it would appear that persons who can bridge over for awhile longer without either building or buying a newly-built home will turn out to be the really fortunate ones.

The Wall Street Journal, after a coast-to-coast survey of new home owners, finds many of them wondering "how long it will be before this place tumbles down about my ears."

Chief complaints are: Green lumber, faulty plumbing, careless carpentry, "ersatz" fixtures, contractor disregard for blueprints, not enough nails to hold the house together.

The Journal reports: "Green lumber that has been entering new houses all over the country for several years is already bringing woe in cases where houses have been built long enough for its weaknesses to show . . . Green lumber is going into practically all houses—both expensive and otherwise. A man with a $19,000 house in Chicago says that the sap runs out when he leans against the planks in his attic . . ."

Skimpy use of nails, it is pointed out, may be reflected in major weakness of many houses now being built, and many occupants of new houses complain of constant trouble with the plumbing.

If need for a living place is so desperate that the loss of several thousand dollars weighs lightly in the balance, nothing much can be done about it—but if there is any way of postponing building or buying property until materials become more dependable that should be done. A home should be expected to serve family needs for many years—possibly a lifetime—instead of becoming an uninhabitable shack within a couple of years, as appears to be the prospect with some of the jerry-built stuff now being thrown together at fantastic cost.

Fairs Started Early In America

THOSE youthful farmers, who are the center of interest at the Richland county fairgrounds today and tomorrow, have a wealth of tradition on which to base this form of exhibition and competition.

The idea of holding a harvest-time fair, for the display of agricultural products, was born at a time when farming was the country's predominant interest, and the National Geographic Society relates that one of the earliest fairs was held in New Castle, Del., in 1690.

Early fairs were devoted almost entirely to agricultural and trade exhibits, with horse racing and carnival attractions coming along later.

Itinerant Punch and Judy shows, wandering Scotch and Irish bagpipers and the midway of sideshows, developed gradually. For a time it was the balloon ascension—with the balloonist dropping by parachute from dizzy heights—that provided the afternoon's greatest thrill.

Other forms of entertainment have come into vogue in recent years—but no satisfactory substitute has yet been found for state, county and community fairs as an inspiration to betterment of farm production, and as opportunity for an annual get-together of friends and acquaintances.

Fire Drills for Hotel Employes

IN A REPORT on the LaSalle hotel fire in Chicago, the Cook county inspection bureau recommended that hotel employes be instructed and drilled in procedure to follow in case of fire. This seems a particularly practical suggestion, and one which might be extended beyond hotels.

Large hotels, institutions and public buildings where serious fires happen have never before experienced any such emergency. Their staff and occupants do not know what to do first, and the result is tragedy, much of which might be avoided.

Fire drills in public schools are prescribed by law. Drills aboard ships and at military stations are common practice. Duties of each person are known ahead of time, and practised often enough to be automatic in a crisis.

Guests at hotels would probably not thank the management for involving them in fire drills, and because they are transient, there would be no particular value in that. But if the staff of every hotel were well enough trained and drilled to know exactly what to do in case of fire, they would be able to direct the guests, help empty the building quickly, and prevent panic.

About That Abandoned Baby

HE HAS blue eyes and sandy hair. His tiny arms reach out eagerly to be picked up. His voice coos recognition or cries for assistance.

But it is not Mother or Daddy who pick him up when his arms stretch out. It is not Mother or Daddy who thrill to his gay coo of recognition or hurry to see what is the cause of his distress.

Mama and Daddy, or possibly just one of them, left him under a backyard cherry tree in Fort Wayne, Ind., one chilly night. They did not even leave a note stating their reasons, although they must certainly have had them—or thought they had.

If those parents were from the Mansfield area, as some clues indicate, their breath must have caught in their throats to see his picture in the newspaper. Their ears must echo emptily for the sound of his baby voice.

Investigators find that there is nothing particularly new about potato whisky—that it has long been used in northern Europe as a personal anti-freeze.

Latest definition of a pedestrian is "a man with a wife, two sons, three daughters and one automobile."

The census bureau reports 60,000,000 persons now employed—more or less perhaps.

United States Alliance With Britain Explains Unfriendliness of Russia

(Editor's Note—Drew Pearson, following his return from the Paris peace conference, writes another column on our tense relations with Russia and how we can prevent our present dangerous drift toward war.)

* * *

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—There is reason to believe that at the end of the war, Soviet Russia looked forward to a virtual alliance with the United States.

The world's two greatest powers, the Russians felt, had no conflicting interests, could work together. Great Britain, the Russians figured, did not count. She was out of date, wiped up, finished.

However, no two nations can run the world without reaping the ill will of the rest of the world and eventual catastrophe. So, fortunately, the United States did not become an ally of Russia.

Unfortunately, however, we have veered so far in the other direction that foreign diplomats generally consider us not only an ally of Great Britain but owned body and soul by the charming gentlemen in the British foreign office.

This not only snarls up our relations with Russia, but lessens our effectiveness with other members of the United Nations. For it is by playing our cards straight across the United Nations board, with absolutely no big power alliances that we can maintain the world leadership which is ours for the asking.

Ever since Britain and Russia combined to stop Napoleon in 1815, their armies and navies have been looking down the muzzles of each others guns. For 100 years they have been the two most powerful, most suspicious, most opposite rivals in all Europe. And today England, weak, old, and fighting for survival, figures that her only salvation is playing off the USA against the USSR.

Atlantic Charter Flouted.

Thus at a time when the Allies were pledged to the principles of the Atlantic Charter and world co-operation, Britain has gone back to the outmoded, trouble-breeding game of power politics. And she has played her cards so skillfully that she has just about euchred the USA into being the No. 1 enemy of the USSR.

One trouble with the British is that our bond of sympathy with them is so close that they know they can take advantage of us.

Like an old man with a weakness for going on benders, the British know that when they get into trouble, their indulgent son will always bail them out.

Palestine is a case in point. The organization which mandated Palestine to the British—the League of Nations—is now nonexistent. The British have absolutely no legal rights in Palestine other than the power of armed force. And if they had any regard whatsoever for American friendship, which they so badly need, long ago they would have turned Palestine back to the United Nations—where it belongs.

British Trickery.

Instead they have used the most brazen trickery to outsmart President Truman. For instance, the president recently received a report on how two secret cables which he had sent to Judge Joseph C. Hutcheson, chairman of the Anglo-American Palestine Commission, were opened and read by the British consul in Geneva before being delivered to Judge Hutcheson.

Truman also has a report from assistant secretary of the treasury, Ed Foley, on how the British tried to double-cross Herbert Gaston, former assistant secretary of the treasury, who has been in London working on the Palestine question. Gaston cabled the treasury department from London asking permission to file a dissent from the Grady-Morrison plan to divide Palestine into Arab-Jewish zones.

But the British have access to all cables leaving London. So they held up Gaston's message to Washington while they scurried round to the American embassy, lodged a protest against Gaston's activities and persuaded Ambassador Averell Harriman to cable a critical report on Gaston to the state department. Thus Harriman's protest arrived before Gaston's cable and helped to nullify it.

British Undercut USA.

In an earlier column, this writer proposed that the United States adopt a definite, categoric policy of not appeasing Russia. It was argued that no country takes the first step toward war if it knows it will have to suffer a major retaliatory war. It was pointed out that Hitler never would have invaded Austria and the Ruhr if he hadn't shrewdly banked on Anglo-French dissension and appeasement.

If we are to follow a non-appeasement policy toward Russia; if we are to demand that she work through the United Nations; if we are to crack down on the first belligerent move she makes outside the United Nations, then Great Britain, judging by past performances, is our worst ally.

In 1932, Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson, realizing that Japan had started on major Asiatic conquest, did his best to enlist British co-operation in stopping the warlords before they got started. To this end he thought he had a British promise to deliver a strong identic note of protest to Japan.

But U. S. Ambassador Cameron Forbes discovered that after he delivered the American protest note, the British ambassador paid two calls at the Jap foreign office. One was to deliver the formal note of protest.

The other was to tell the Japanese foreign minister informally that Great Britain had promised the United States to deliver a note, but nevertheless the British understood and sympathized with the Japanese position in Manchuria.

Again, in 1936, when Hitler walked into the Ruhr, it was the British who hung back, told the French that if they resisted Hitler, they would have to fight alone.

Again, during the Spanish civil war, it was the British foreign office which secretly played ball with Franco and sabotaged the Loyalist government, despite the fact that the world knew Hitler and Mussolini were staging a curtain-raiser to world war.

Again, prior to the Munich crisis over the Czech Sudetenland, Lord Runciman spent weeks in Czechoslovakia passing out secret word that Hitler could have the Sudetenland as far as he was concerned. So by the time the Big Four met in Munich, the surrender of the Sudetenland was a foregone conclusion—agreed to in advance by British appeasers.

Historians already are recording the probability that if we had checked the Spanish Fascist, if we had stopped Hitler in the Ruhr, if we had prevented his carving up Czechoslovakia, or even if we had blocked any one of these moves, the terrible tragedy of World War II would not have happened.

And if we are going to prevent World War III, the gentlemen of the British foreign office, with their silk-glove policy of appeasement, may prove our most dangerous, though charming allies.

Assignment: America

—By KENNETH L. DIXON

Using Flame-Thrower As Weeding Machine.

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — Whether it concerned swords-to-plowshares or the energy within the atom, history long since has proved most wartime weapons are more valuable to mankind wed to peacetime pursuits.

Even so some of the transformations take you by surprise.

It is doubtful if any American soldier watching the horrible searing stabbing flame-thrower in action during the past war ever envisioned it as an invaluable agricultural implement. Certainly this correspondent didn't.

Nevertheless factory-built and home made adaptions of the flame-thrower today are being used on countless farms and plantations throughout the South.

And development of the devilishly-fearsome weapon as a modern weeding machine has provided a potential last link in the complete mechanization of the southlands mammoth cotton crop.

Prior to its adaptation to this purpose there already were mechanical cotton planters, plows, pickers, strippers and gins.

Thus, the remaining labor link to the crop, keeping its cost high and its cultivation slow, was the necessity for "cotton chopping"—that tedious back-breaking job of hoeing within the rows where the cultivator would not go.

But this year on countless farms and plantations throughout Tennessee and several states deeper south the flame-thrower is replacing the hoe for this job.

An odd and curious-looking device, the farm implement bears little resemblance to its ugly battlefield cousin. Except that tiny fingers of flame have been substituted for steel blades, it looks more like some strange cultivator—for the pipes which carry fuel to the flames curve downward toward the earth just like the shanks for plowshares.

But the job they do is different.

Shooting directly into the cotton row from both sides, just under the leaves and above the ground, the flame pipes breathe their high-temperature halitosis (1600 to 1800 degrees fahrenheit) through the stalks of cotton and over the weeds.

If the cotton stalks are approximately three-sixteenths of an inch thick—which means from seven to ten inches high usually — they will not be harmed by the flame-thrower's horrible breath.

At first there will be a noticeable effect on the smaller-trunked weeds within the row.

But return to the row half an hour or so later and you'll find the weeds seared, withered and dead. The job is done.

Naturally, it still requires cultivation between the rows but many cotton farmers have combined the two operations by hooking their flame-throwers right behind two and four-row cultivators.

Although total mechanization of the cotton crop is being pushed more strongly in the Memphis sector of the South than perhaps any other place, the big holdback this year is the same as with almost any other industry—no equipment.

Reconversion is swinging slowly back to vital farm implements, but it will be another year or so before the cycle is sufficiently completed to permit total mechanization on an unlimited basis.

Although fear is expressed in some quarters that mechanization of the cotton crop will throw thousands of laborers out of work, plantation men hereabouts say the reverse is true—that the current shortage of labor is forcing the rapid mechanization.

But once this is sure the geese are going to be out of a job.

Even today many small cotton farmers still take care of the row weeding by putting a flock of geese in the field.

They put feed at one end of the field and water at the other and the "commuting geese," who like the little weeds but won't touch the cotton plants, clean out the patch as they wander back and forth.

Hannegan Stresses Roosevelt Influence.

WASHINGTON—The radio talk made by Democratic National Chairman Robert Hannegan the other evening had greater significance than was generally attached to it. In a sense, this speech was meant to set the tone not merely for the congressional campaign but for the contest in '48 as well.

Hannegan is looking a long way ahead. He talks of getting out of what is in many ways the irksome job of chairman. But even if he were to leave, which is improbable, he believes his successor would be compelled by the logic of events to follow the line more or less clearly defined in his radio talk.

That line is to depict President Truman as the rightful heir of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

In his talk, Hannegan paid resounding tribute to the memory of Roosevelt who, he said, led the nation out of economic despair and into a new day. Then he went on to tell how Truman was carrying on where his predecessor left off.

It was a shrewd political speech. Coupled with praise for Truman as Roosevelt's heir, was a thundering attack on "Republican wreckers" in congress whom Hannegan blamed for sabotaging the Roosevelt-Truman program.

"In the belief that Roosevelt's death has brought them their opportunity," Hannegan said, "the economic wreckers in the Republican party are using this election as the strategic moment to strike. Progressive America is standing today with its back to the wall.

"We of the Democratic party are going to hold the line against that attack. We are going to hold the line against reaction. That will be our slogan in this campaign."

The Democratic chairman was, of course, on very thin ice in attacking the Republican record in congress, since a considerable number of Democrats joined with the GOP to kill Truman's reform measures. But Hannegan skated rapidly over that point by declaring it did not excuse Republicans to say they had been joined by some Democrats.

If Hannegan's counsel prevails—and he will not stay on if it is rejected—the Roosevelt-Truman link will be emphasized more and more as the contest of 1948 draws near. One of the things that impressed Hannegan most on his recent trip around the world was how, at every stop, the name Roosevelt came into the conversation, no matter what the rank or station of the individual.

Invocation of the Roosevelt appeal will not be confined to words. An effort will be made to bring into the Truman administration prominent figures identified with Roosevelt and the New Deal.

One of the first of these, according to present plans, is to be Frances Perkins, who served as secretary of labor from March of 1933 until the death of Roosevelt. The president admires Miss Perkins and wants to find a post of sufficient importance and prestige to persuade her to return to government. For a time, the vacancy on the civil service commission was considered.

A party long in power, as Hannegan is constantly discovering, has many heritages, both good and bad. In New York state, for example, the Democrats seem certain to select Sen. James Mead to run for the governorship, and former Gov. Herbert H. Lehman for the senate.

While he realizes the handicaps his party is under, Hannegan is not downcast about the election this fall. One thing he's counting on is Republican over-confidence.

With the GOP serenely convinced they are certain to return to power, Hannegan is working hard with a generous war chest and a staff that will concentrate on grass-roots action.

Strange Aspects In LaFollette's Defeat.

THOSE who believe the voice of the people to be the expression of occult wisdom will have a hard time rationalizing the recent Wisconsin primary.

The voters rejected capacity and long experience in favor of a candidate with no discernible distinction in statecraft. It could hardly have been due to Senator La Follette's pre-war isolationism alone, for all observers of recent primaries say that what was said on that subject five years ago is of little concern to voters now.

It could have had little to do with LaFollette's liberal economic views, for by comparison with current New Dealers, La Follette is a conservative.

It could hardly be attributed to La Follette's neglect of his constituents, because no senator ever thought more consistently of the home folks.

It may have been due, in part, to the hostility of many Polish-American and Catholic voters who felt that La Follette was too sympathetic toward Russia. But that could hardly explain the whole of what happened.

What makes the result most strange was the vote in the same primary for the aged Governor Goodland. Despite the protests of some people, it is distinctly legitimate to write and talk about a candidate's physical qualifications for office. In Governor Goodland's case, it was clear to intelligent observers that no man of such age and abated vigor could effectively govern a great state.

That fact, I may add, has been clear to governors of other states who have seen the octogenarian statesman at governor's conferences. Apparently, about all Goodland could do in the campaign was to summon the energy to say that he was still young enough to be governor.

But the people have decreed that Goodland shall go on and La Follette shall go out. They have done this, despite the fact that La Follette's long service in the senate has given him a position of seniority which under the rules, enables him to get much more for his state than many other senators can get for theirs and which a newcomer can get only after many years.

During the absence of Thomas L. Stokes on vacation this space will be given to articles by other writers on timely subjects.

Although La Follette is not an old man, he has served 21 years as a senator and several years before that as his father's secretary. Only Senators McKellar, Walsh, Capper, George, Shipstead, Wheeler and Gerry have served longer.

His position of seniority on committees is important, and in case of Republican control, he would have been one of the most influential men in the government. He is, in the present senate, the highest ranking minority member of the finance, education and labor, manufacturers, and Indian affairs committees. On the foreign relations committee he is second to Senator Capper.

All the advantage involved in this seniority the voters have rejected. The senator they elect in November must start at the bottom of the list.

And seniority is not all. The quiet but solid achievements of La Follette are known and respected by every expert student of government. In a body where industry is not too plentiful, he has been a hard worker. His name has been associated with a good deal of constructive legislation. He is serious, almost painfully serious.

He spent years on the dry but extremely important subject of streamlining congress and only this year saw his plan enacted into law. His defeat is a national loss.

Farmer's Diary: "Children Talk Too Much."

THERE is much to be said against children. They are I am sure, the greatest problem of our age. And from recent birth statistics, it seems they intend to remain so. For they're getting born at a rapid rate—and only an optimist can see what good may come of it. .

Living daily with five of them, at the half-grown stage, in a small country cottage far off the beaten track, wears a man down something awful. Even—especially—when they're his own and he can understand with awful clarity the source of most of their peculiar devilments.

Climbing trees might seem to be an innocent boyish sport. But they have improvised a "tree home," with different floors to be ascended to by a rope ladder, and the rope pulled up after them. There they carry away loaves of bread, and whatever other provender they can assemble.

There they hoard all sorts of strange paraphernalia from crickets to slingshots and stone ammunition. If my safety razor is missing, I can only suspect where it might be found . . . it's dumfounding.

About all a man can do is raise a beard.

* * *

A FARMER down our way has had all his teeth removed, and is waiting impatiently for his new dentures. Some of his friends in town met in a business place, when the farmer's daughter happened to come along and greet them.

"Haven't seen much of your Dad this summer," remarked one bluff business man. "Tell him to stop in when he's in town."

"Father's sensitive about his looks without his teeth," the girl told them.

The men present exchanged glances. "Tell you what," ejaculated one, "we'll all come down and see him . . . lay all our teeth on the table—and gum the works!"

How many of you readers have false teeth, anyway? Not any. I thought so.

Bedtime Stories

—By Thornton W. Burgess

—Old Mother Nature

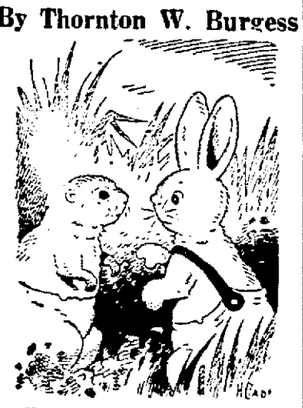
"I judge," said Peter Rabbit, "that we are going to the same place."

WHAT DID THEY MEAN?

That is why youth makes so many mistakes that age long ago learned to avoid. A young Rabbit seldom looks beyond his toes. An old Rabbit doubts his eyes but trusts his nose.

Chucky, Johnny Chuck's young grandson, and Little Wobblenose, Peter Rabbit's young grandson, sat in the grass of the Green Meadows near Farmer Brown's garden listening to a sound wholly new to them, the voice of Flip the Terrier. He was in that garden barking at Old Mr. Toad. Both were pop-eyed with fright although they had just agreed that they were not afraid of anything or anybody in all the Great World. No more foolish boast can be made by anybody.

Each wanted to turn tail and run, but neither wanted to be the first to do it. Also, having been out in the Great World for themselves for only a few days, they didn't know which way to run. All in a moment the wonderful Great World had become a dreadful Great World. Fright is like that.



Youth, believing all it sees, With its elders disagrees.

So they sat still. It was the wisest thing they could do, but it wasn't wisdom that made them do it. It was ignorance.

Near where they sat, more or less hidden in tall grass, two little paths from different directions met and formed one little path that led toward the garden. Some one was coming down each little path. They met where the paths joined. They were old friends. One was Chucky's grandfather, Johnny Chuck, but Chucky didn't know this. Neither did Little Wobblenose know that the other was his grandfather, Peter Rabbit. To the frightened young onlookers they were two big strangers.

"I judge," said Peter Rabbit, "that we were going to the same place."

"And I judge that we have now changed our minds," replied Johnny Chuck and grinned.

"It is very disappointing. I had my mouth made up for a feast. Now I will have to wait until dark," said Peter.

"That Dog has no business over there. There is nothing there for him. I wonder who he is barking at. There are things over there that will never be as good eating as they are right now. I don't like being out after dark, but it looks as if I will have to wait until then too," replied Johnny Chuck.

"Have you tasted the lettuce?" asked Peter.

"Yes," replied Johnny, "but I like the leaves of the beans better," replied Johnny Chuck and sighed.

"I suppose you have been chased out of there," said Peter.

"I should say I have. I don't know why. One would think that I have no business over there. I don't know why not. All I do is just eat things growing, there just as I eat clover and grass on the Green Meadows. What are plants for if not to be eaten? If I could find growing anywhere else things like those over there I never would go there, but I can't. Just listen to that Dog. He is barking at somebody. I can always tell when he is barking at some one, not barking just to hear his own voice. He has barked at me too many times for me not to know what that sound means," said Johnny Chuck.

"I know," said Peter, nodding his head. "I've been barked at more times than I can remember. He's a nuisance, that Dog. Well, we may as well go home, or somewhere else anyway. That is no place for either of us while he is there."

So Peter turned and went back the way he had come, and Johnny Chuck turned and went back the way he had come. Chucky and Little Wobblenose watched them out of sight, then turned to look at each other.

"What did they mean? What do you suppose is over there?" whispered the little Rabbit, and wobbled his nose faster than ever hoping it would tell him something his ears and his eyes couldn't tell him.

"It is something good to eat. I'm sure of that. Why didn't they go over there? Were they afraid of that fellow making all that noise? They acted so. If I were as big as either of them I wouldn't be afraid. No, sir, I wouldn't be afraid. What did they mean by better things to eat than they can find anywhere else?" said the young Chuck.

"We ought to find out," replied Little Wobblenose gravely.

The next story: "Were They to Blame?"

MISSIONARY SOCIETY HAS ANNIVERSARY

United Presbyterian Church Woman's Group Celebrates 70 Years as an Organization, Wednesday.

"Backward Look of the Society" was the topic presented by Mrs. W. E. Shane yesterday afternoon as the Woman's Missionary society of the United Presbyterian church met for a celebration of their 70th anniversary at the home of Mrs. A. E. Courtney, Sherman avenue.

Mrs. Shane gave a report of the early days of the organization and read the minutes of the first meeting. Mrs. Flora Barnett read the names of the charter members and several letters received from former members of the society who included the following ministers wives: Mrs. W. H. Vincent, who now lives in Pittsburgh, Pa., Mrs. Frank Findley, McVilla, Pa., Mrs. Huber Ferguson, Jamestown, N. Y., and Mrs. L. E. H. Smith, Buffalo, N. Y.

She also read letters from Mrs. Emma Walker, Knoxville, Tenn., Miss Jessie McKey, Kansas City, Mo., Miss Edith O'Neil, Daytona Beach, Fla., Mrs. Alberta Cheney, Pease, Bellville, and Mrs. Martha Jacksonville, Fla., Mrs. John Alter and mother Mrs. Jennie Payne of New Wilmington. Mrs. Alter will return to Punja, India next week to resume her missionary work.

Mrs J Campbell White's topic of the afternoon was "Inward Look of Society for Years To Come."

Previously in the afternoon a meeting of the missionary prayer group was held. Owing to the absence of the president the meeting was conducted by the vice-president Mrs. R. D. Anderson.

Sept. 18 will be the date of the next meeting of the group to be held at the home of Mrs. Martin Welker, East Arch street. Mrs. E. D. Craig will be associate hostess.

PARTIES CONTINUE FOR LILLIAN ART

Miss Lillian Art was honored last evening at a spinster dinner of lovely appointments given by Miss Adaline Wilging, who will serve as bridesmaid Saturday when the Art-McGinty nuptial vows will be repeated.

The dinner table, set for twelve guests, was decorated with flowers and candles in novel arrangements. A bride's book was made and presented to the honoree. Later in the evening, a personal shower of gifts was presented to Miss Art.

* * *

Mrs. Paul Sherrer and daughter, Dorothy Ann, South Main street, entertained Tuesday evening at a miscellaneous shower in honor of the bride-elect, Miss Art.

Guests sewed towels which were presented to the honoree after she had followed a string through the Sherrer home which led her to her gifts.

Refreshments were served buffet style in the dining room. The table was lace-laid over a pale blue covering. A bouquet of pink roses and yellow gladioli formed the centerpiece which was flanked with burning candles.

Mrs. Sherrer, an aunt of the groom-to-be, David Le Roy McGinty, presented him with an heirloom gift of silver which had belonged to his late paternal grandparents.

Miss Art and Mr. McGinty will be married this Saturday at 3:30 p. m. in the First Lutheran church in a formal closed church ceremony with Rev. Carveth P. Mitchell officiating.

ENTRE NOUS CLUB.

Members of the Entre Nous club met last night at the home of Mrs. Herbert Altaffer, South Adams street. A business session was conducted by Mrs. Altaffer following which games were played. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. George Reichert and Mrs. James Au. The next meeting will be a picnic supper on Sept. 18 at the home of Mrs Emmett Crookdon, East Flint street.

Following a wedding trip to Fort Wayne, Ind., and Chicago, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. George Ivan Summers will be at home to friends at R. D. 6, Alpine drive.

The former Miss Marguerite Weber, daughter of Arnold Weber, Boughton avenue, repeated nuptial vows with George Ivan Summers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Hello, Tessie.

I've got the most wonderful news. It's just too, TOO! . . . I'm really going to get a fur coat this winter.

• • •

Oh yes, Thomas is going to buy it for me. Of course, he didn't actually say so, but this morning he mentioned he was going to buy Tyger Club memberships for the entire family this year.

• • • •

You don't see? Why, Tessie, it's very simple. Thomas certainly can't expect me to go to the games in old clothes. He'll growl a little, of course,—but he'll finally give in. He's really a dear.

• • • •

Well, why don't you try it on your husband? Just casually mention you'd like to join and then get him to read the ad explaining all about it in next Sunday's paper.

Yes, that's right. The Tyger Club.

Goodbye.

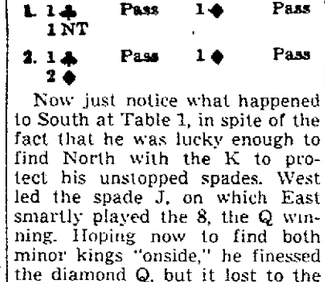
Barclay On Bridge

By SHEPARD BARCLAY

"So many hands will produce the same number of tricks at No Trumps as at a suit." This is the fetish that causes too many match-point duplicate players to have what might be called "the No Trump complex." They would be better off to say "So few hands will produce the same number of tricks at No Trump as at a suit." Of course there are deals on which the same number of tricks can be taken — even those on which you can make more at No Trumps than in the best suit. But this is seldom so when the pair has a four-card suit fitting between the declarer and dummy, together with a doubleton in one or both holdings.



(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1. 1♣	Pass	1♦	Pass
1 NT
2. 1♣	Pass	1♦	Pass
2♦

Now just notice what happened to South at Table 1, in spite of the fact that he was lucky enough to find North with the K to protect his unstopped spades. West led the spade J, on which East smartly played the 8, the Q winning. Hoping now to find both minor kings "onside," he finessed the diamond Q, but it lost to the K. Four spade tricks followed, then the heart 2 was led to the Q and the 3 came back to the J, K and A. South now scored three diamonds and finessed the club Q. The K won and another heart was scored to give the defense eight tricks, setting South three.

Where South raised to 2-Diamonds after hearing North's response to the 1-Club opener, the contract was made without any difficulty. One trick was lost in spades, two in hearts and one each in the minors. Making that contract meant a neat swing for the sucgcessful pair, which scored 90 points, whereas the rival North South pair lost 150. Thus the insignificant deal netted 240 points profit to the sounder team—and in the long run 240 points makes a lot per deal.

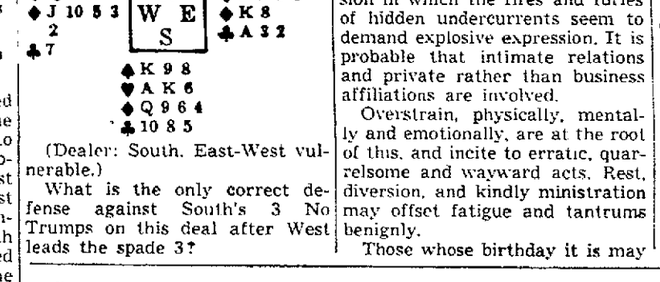
Tomorrow's Problem.



(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

What is the only correct defense against South's 3 No Trumps on this deal after West leads the spade 3?

Try and Stop Me

—By Bennet Cerf

One of the favorite stories of Abe Burrows, the radio and song writer, concerns the day he was riding in a car in New Jersey with a nervous playwright.

The driver was reckless and erratic and had his passengers on the edge of their seats. When the towers of the George Washington bridge loomed in the distance, the playwright tapped the driver on the shoulder and suggested, "Don't cross that bridge until you get to it."

That calls to mind the Earl Wilson story of the time Beatrice Lillie offered a lift to an actor she loathed. In her sweetest manner she asked, "Can I drop you anywhere—off the George Washington bridge, for instance?"

* * *

Alfred McTichnor shook his head. "No sir," he said, "I cannot accept your offer of a cocktail at this hour for three reasons. First: I promised my wife never to drink during the business day. Second: liquor before lunch incapacitates me for work all afternoon. Third: I had three just before you came in" — "However, continued McTichnor hurriedly, "I do not want to injure the feelings of a colleague. You might order me two double martinis."

HOROSCOPE

For Friday, August 23.

The auguries are for a curious and insistent emotional compulsion in which the fires and furies of hidden undercurrents seem to demand explosive expression. It is probable that intimate relations and private rather than business affiliations are involved.

Overstrain, physically, mentally and emotionally, are at the root of this, and incite to erratic, quarrelsome and wayward acts. Rest, diversion, and kindly ministration may offset fatigue and tantrums benignly.

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves in a year of high pressure of nerves and forces, impelling to untoward, explosive or other temperamental exhibitionism. This may be due to overstrain of nerves in work, overindulgence emotionally and psychologically, with regrettable reactions on the physical and as well on the environs, personal contacts and associations. Firm grip on oneself, the emotions and faculties, may assist nature in mending fatigue and temperament. Shun all excess and excitement.

A child born on this day may be keyed to high emotional and temperamental behaviourism, due to excesses, bodily and mental fatigue from emotional excitement. Rest, diversion and firm supervision are the remedy.

New York Notes

—By Dorothy Kilgallen

DO YOU REMERBER HOLLYWOOD WHEN—? One of the most important and beautiful screen stars, Lili Damita, shocked everyone in the golden cinema brackets by marrying a virtually unknown newcomer named Errol Flynn?

Charles Boyer did the chauffeur bit in "Red Headed Woman," which starred Jean Harlow, just a few seasons before Clark Gable had done a chauffeur bit in a Connie Bennett super-colossal special?

Gloria Vanderbilt Jr., was just a spindly-legged, unhappy-looking child with prominent teeth at the very time that glamorous Greta Garbo was throwing the studio heads into a panic by touring the continent with Leopold Stokowski?

Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks upset the Emily Post-conscious citizens of Hollywood by insisting upon being seated next to each other at all dinner parties and refusing to dance with anyone but each other?

Joan Fontaine got the all-time terrible panning of all time when she played opposite Fred Astaire in "Damsel In Distress," and people groaned that she couldn't act at all—and what was worse, couldn't even dance?

Betty Grable hadn't met Harry James nor had Alice Faye encountered Phil Harris, but Maestros, Inc., were doing very nicely. Bette Davis was the bride of a handleader, Ham Nelson, Dorothy Lamour was wed to another stick-welder, Herbie Kaye, and Martha Raye was making beautiful music with Dave Rose, who makes beautiful music?

Clark Gable and Joan Crawford were always carrying on with each other, but only in those glamour glitter penthouse pictures, and never had an offscreen date?

Warner Brothers "Gold Digger" films were an annual event and seemed to get more extravagantly spectacular and more spectacularly boring as the years went by?

Maurice Chevalier was the top singing star at Paramount and Bing Crosby was just a seeondary featured player on the same lot?

Everybody predicted that Paulette Goddard would be just a flash in the cinematic pan like all other Chaplin leading ladies?

Rita Hayworth was a plumpish black-haired "heavy" with a perpetually petulant expression?

Janet Gaynor and Charlie Farrell were the top romantic team of the day?

George Raft did a tiny bit in one of Mae West's largest successes, and topped that later by what was considered a daring dance exhibition with Carole Lombard to the music of Ravel's "Bolero"?

Or are you as young as you look?

Cast and Catch Fish and Prize

COLUMBUS — (U.P.) — Junior fishermen will have their chance at the state fair, opening Saturday. The conservation department plans a contest for boys and girls under 18 in which shifts of 50 youngsters will cast for adult channel catfish for 45 minutes. The first fish taken will bring not only the fish but a prize.

All fish caught will be iced and wrapped by conservation boothmanagers for the youngsters who land them.

New African Violets From Old

Seeds are formed readily on African violet plants as the flowers fade but only a greenhouse man or a gardener who has a conservatory should attempt to propagate these plants from seed. The amateur, however, can easily grow African violets from his old plants by means of cuttings.

One method of planting leaf cuttings from an African violet plant is shown in the accompanying Garden-Graph. Choose mature leaves, picked from the base of the plant, and insert the leaf stem into a pot of moist sand, as illustrated.

When roots form, and this is discovered by lifting one leaf carefully and examining it, the new plant is ready to be potted in a small flower pot of its own. Use a soil mixture consisting of rich soil, the kind obtainable from a compost pile, to which is added one part of fine sand and one part leaf mold. If leaf mold is not obtainable use peatmoss.

The pots into which the rooted cuttings are placed must have good drainage. This can be assured by placing small stones or gravel in the bottom of the pot. Make sure also that the drainage hole in the bottom of the pot does not become clogged.

As the new plant develops it will outgrow its small pot, when it should be shifted into one that is a size or two larger. Use the same kind of soil mixture in the second pot. The plants usually begin to bloom in from seven to eight months.

Shot From Plane Going 300 MPH

DAYTON —(AP)— The Air Material Command disclosed that First Sgt. Lawrence Lambert, 29, of Berkeley, W. Va., was the first human in the United States to be shot out of a high speeding aircraft with the aid of the newly developed pilot ejection seat.

Lambert was shot from a P-61 flying at more than 300 miles per hour at an altitude of 6,000 feet over Patterson Field. He squeezed a handle setting in motion the automatic apparatus that catapulted him from the plane, separated him from his seat in the air, caused the parachute to open and landed him safely.

Crum Forecasts War With Soviet

WASHINGTON —(INS)— Bartley C. Crum, U. S. member of the Anglo-American Palestine commission, says he is "convinced" war with the Soviet Union is inevitable.

Speaking at a luncheon sponsored by the American Christian Palestine committee, yesterday, Crum said:

"I have wondered why certain elements in the government support the British position in Palestine. "I am convinced it is because war with the Soviet Union is inevitable and that the position in the Middle East must be protected by us as well as Britain."

Persons living more than 200 miles from seacoasts, eat only 10 per cent of the salt water fish brought to American ports.

UNEXPECTED THRILL

NEW YORK—(INS)—As a former combat medical corpsman in the European Theater of Operations, it was only natural that USO-Camp Shows trouper, Ray Vincent, would meet many of his former buddies, but he never expected the thrill of seeing a man whom he thought had died in the hedgerows of Normandy sitting in the audience cheering him on.

Jack Lait — On Broadway

READERS TELEPHONE, WRITE AND WIRE—they want more about Duffy the Goat . . . His hoodlum heart would swell with pride, for, as I have noted, he reveled in publicity . . . He may still be alive, for all I know. Last time I saw him, though, was rather long ago, when he was sent to Joliet for killing a young pug who was buying champagne for Frisco Kate, a West Coast madam the Goat fancied . . . It was upstairs, in his own saloon—the one he gunned in on when, he declared himself Jimmy Leather's partner, and made it stick. As was the custom then, the dive had second-floor wine-rooms for "ladies."

Shooting a cash customer was not considered proper protocol in the section of Chicago known as "the levee." The Goat was sharply denounced, especially since he fired before the chump paid the check. This unethical behavior lost him the sympathy of many friends. But Chew-Tobacco Charlie was loyal.

* * *

Charlie had been a brilliant lawyer, who wrecked himself with whisky. He got his appellation because, in Harrison Street police station lockup, when a prisoner couldn't dig up a dime, Charlie took the case for a bite off his plug. Charlie couldn't do much for Duffy on the murder rap, though he almost stayed sober for the trial. The Goat had a long record and he got an indeterminate sentence up to the limit.

Chew-Tobacco Charlie had been more successful in the case of State vs. Duffy, when the Goat was apprehended on an allegation that he had committed larceny from the person, to wit, he had bitten a diamond out of its setting in the shirt-stud of a peasant from Paducah. This unusual felony, too, occurred in Duffy & Leather's grogshop, but in the main reception-room, downstairs, at the bar.

* * *

The only witness against the Goat was the studless stranger, who on cross-examination admitted he had consumed "perhaps a dozen." Charlie waved him off with "that's all." Duffy did not take the stand. Charlie argued that this man, after a dozen drinks of the stuff sold in Duffy & Leather's, wouldn't know a diamond from a door-knob. Duffy was discharged.

As the Goat turned triumphantly with his attorney toward the door, he said to Charlie: "Dat rube oughta be pinched for perjury." He raised his left fist, and, on the pinky blazed a diamond in a new, shiny setting. "Two karats, he says," sneered Duffy. "Dat jew'ler in Milwaukee says it ain't even one and two-t'irds!"

* * *

Artur Rodzinski, New York Philharmonic conductor, sold his 250-acre Stockbridge, Mass., estate to Dorothea Powers, concert violinist . . . Miriam Hopkins is in the Big Burg, to do Somerset Maugham's "The Letter," on Theatre of Romance airshow . . . Gen. "Wild Bill" Donovan is far behind in the race for GOP nomination to the U. S. Senate. He is in bad with labor for some forthright decisions he made when he was a young assistant attorney general. Considered the best bet a month ago, he has been practically eliminated . . . Mrs. Robert Jerome Faulkner, of the social old guard, celebrated her 94th birthday on the St. Regis roof. She invited 94 friends, but many were too feeble to attend. Mrs. Faulkner, who lives at 277 Park Ave., has been tossing these annual parties for almost half a century.

Pegler — Fair Enough

NEW YORK—Moe, that muscovy duck of mine, has been ruined by a little publicity.

Jimmy Powers and Winnie came over the other night and Moe came down from the barn for some crackers at the corner of the porch. This is an ordinary custom of his since the fox got his hens, Eenie, Meenie and Miney, and broke his leg and twisted a wing, last fall.

Jimmy thought this was extraordinary precocity in a duck, although a little more thought should have reminded him that all creatures, even actors, can be trained to do very amusing tricks by the promise of delicacies and applause. For several years, over on the ridge, back of Stamford, Ruth Hale entertained a pet blacksnake in summer and I knew a man named Taggart, who worked with Ditmars in the reptile house at the Bronx Zoo, who put his trust in a hen, or would you call it a doe or sow—anyway, a female copperhead, and thought he had discovered friendship until he got careless in trying to relieve her of a tumor on her head and she fanged him on the thumb.

* * *

Mr. Powers wrote a little note in his column about this remarkable fowl of mine and a newsreel man called up and wanted to make a short take of Moe waddling down the gravel path for his crackers and pecking me in the legs and chasing the little white mutt when he tried to horn in.

I said nothing doing because I suspected that after the fellow got his traps set up, Moe would get temperamental and, strictly in a manner of speaking, lay an egg.

I never thought this a very remarkable performance, anyway. You feed him and make a fuss for his empty vanity and he gets accustomed to it at a certain place and makes certain sounds which are natural to him and puts on a certain expression by arching his silver crest, something like Paul McNutt's, and does something with his eyes which looks like a glare of righteousness.

* * *

That is all there is to it. Just a duck, bereft of his hens by a fox, who has learned to keep out of the high grass on the way to the pond and so hangs around the porch to be fed. But we people are always imputing human qualities to animal life, and so there he is, a Hollywood ham who has suddenly and unexpectedly won his Oscar, as it were. And now you can't do a thing with him.

I don't need to be told that he can't read and had no idea in the world that he had had an offer from the movies, but it was a coincidence anyway that the next morning he wouldn't come down for his crackers and wouldn't even eat them when I took them up to him, or chase the little white mutt when the mutt ate them righ under his bill.

You find your imagination taking over in such cases and here was Moe, holding out for certain extravagances in the production, advantages in the billing, big scenes, a bigger dog to chase instead of the little white mutt and his own pet social and political significance in the story. Lionel Barrymore was out as the one to call "come on, you Moe and get your breakfast" because he voted for Dewey and Moe wouldn't be found dead in the same production with such a reactionary as me.

* * *

Moe, in his act, is always rearing that silver crest and clapping his bill and narrowing those yellow eyes in that glare, like a professional New Dealer making a set speech to a gang of underworld war profiteers in denunciation of Quislings among us, for 2.000 and expenses. You can see how convincing he is when he took in Jimmy Powers but I have seen his like around Washington and Hollywood and the expensive places in New York and I wasn't forgetting, when he seemed so deep in mourning for his hens that time, that he left them to the fox and beat it for the barn, saving his own life at the cost of theirs.

A muscovy, or Russian duck he is, but let me shut off the rations in the box stalls, let me turn on the economic pressure, that is, and you will find him back for his crackers at the corner of the porch, as reactionary as George Spelvin, the canary, who sings for his supper and light stuff, exclusively, that doesn't pretend to think, and makes no bones about it.

Hal Boyle — Globe-Jotting

By EDWIN B. GREENWALD
(For Hal Boyle)

ISTANBUL, Turkey—(AP)—Talking about cats, as everybody does here, there are people with more than their share of getting around the world who contend that Istanbul has more cats to the doorstep than any other city in any country.

There are no figures to confirm or refute this, but a glance up and down any Istanbul street is enough to convince the doubter that there is some merit in the argument.

No one, official or otherwise, is willing to hazard even a rough guess on the city's feline population, but the supply can be described as well in excess of ample. Last spring's kitten crop littered the streets, choked gutters and blocked apartment house steps while the number of roving parents in nowise diminished.

Istanbul is a cat paradise, one of the reasons being that there are few dogs to disturb normal cat routine.

The Turks rounded up all the city's stray dogs some 30-odd years ago, hauled them by ship to a barren island in the sea of Marmora and abandoned them to an unhappy fate. Left without food and without access to the mainland, the dogs simply devoured each other until, it may be reasoned, only one dog remained and he, or she, presumably starved to death.

At least there are no dogs today on the island which, not at all strangely, acquired the name "dog island." There is no tourist trade there, either.

So Instanbul's cats don't worry about dogs; it's the dogs that do whatever worrying there is to be done. Whereas canines usually are top dog anywhere else, they are strictly on the receiving end here and proceed with the utmost caution and timid friendliness. A report from the municipal office which takes care of such matters related that in June the office "disposed" of 137 stray dogs and only seven cats.

The Turks just don't like dogs, and that's that. Cats are something else again, and the sounds of the night offer ample proof.

Seeks Enlistments For Navy Training

Lt. jg F. O. Maugans, assistant officer in charge of the Cleveland navy recruiting station, will arrive in Mansfield next Saturday to enlist former servicemen from army, navy, marines, coast guard and others, in the navy's V-6 inactive reserve, it was announced today.

CCM John T. Daley of the Mansfield navy recruiting station urged all former servicemen to see Lt. Maugans with respect to the inactive reserve V-6 naval program.

COMEDIAN DIES

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — (AP) — Funeral services for Louisville-born movie comedian John "Rags" Ragland will be held Friday. The body of the veteran of 29 years in show business arrived yesterday from Hollywood where he died.

4 FROM CITY INJURED IN 2-CAR CRASH

Police Find Man Fatally Hurt Near Vermilion Was Ashlander.

Four Mansfielders were treated at General hospital this morning for lacerations and bruises suffered in a two-car accident two miles north of the junction of Routes 30 and 39 on U. S. Route 30.

Injured in the collision were Jesse and Lillie Baird of 118 South Main street; Charles Burnett, 24½ South Walnut street; and Richard Shrader, Mansfield, R. D. 4.

Burnett, driver of one of the cars, was arrested by state highway patrolmen on charges of unsafe operation of a motor vehicle.

Meanwhile, the identity of Arthur M. Stone, believed to have been a Mansfield resident, fatally injured in a head-on auto collision near Vermilion Monday, was established late yesterday at St. Joseph's hospital in Lorain.

Mr. Stone, 30, was identified as the son of Ralph W. Stone, Ashland, R. D. 3. He received a skull fracture, internal injuries and leg bruises, and never regained consciousness after the accident in which two Clevelanders were killed and four others injured.

Funeral services will be conducted at the Gilbert funeral home at 2 p. m. Friday by Rev. J. C. Inman, pastor of Ashland's Third Street Church of the Brethren.

Mr. Stone, a lifelong resident of Ashland county, is survived by his father and step-mother and one sister, Mrs. Marilyn Bishop of Mansfield.

A car driven by Arthur Furstenberger, jr., of Marion was demolished early today when he lost control of the vehicle six miles west of Mansfield on U. S. Route 30-S, but Furstenberger escaped without personal injury, according to state highway patrolmen.

Highway patrolmen said that the auto hit a ditch and rolled over.

DAD THANKS POLICE HERE

Explanation of Reason For Son's Detention Satisfies Editor.

Letters were received by Mayor Roy W. Vaughn, Police Chief Meade K. Bates and Detective R. Bruce Friday yesterday from Sidney B. Self, chemical editor of the Wall Street Journal, thanking them for their explanation of why his 17-year-old son was detained by Mansfield police.

After reading Bates' letter of explanation, Self said he had a more favorable opinion of Mansfield police.

In his letter to Friday, Self added his invitation to one previously extended to the detective by the youth to visit the Self farm in Connecticut.

The youth was picked up, as previously explained by Bates, because he had 49 silver dollars suspended in a bag around his neck and because his social security card showed him name as Hartwell C. Self while he told officers that his name was "Tobe" Self.

He was seen standing on a corner of East Fourth street at about 10:30 p. m., Aug. 4, while en route home from Wyoming to New Canaan, Conn. He was released by Friday after he explained that he had traded his pay for the silver dollars to take home as souvenirs.

IGNORE RAIN

South Boulevards Lawn Fete Draws Big Attendance.

Rain may have damaged the festivities, but it couldn't dampen the spirits of the hundreds who partcipated in the lawn fete last night that closed the summer social season of the South Boulevards Civic club.

Rows of parked cars testified to the crowd.

Music and games, including everything from a miniature golf course to pony rides for the children, offered a wide variety of entertainment.

Long lines formed at the food counters, behind one of which Mayor R. K. Clark officiated at pouring coffee.

Frank Vild, chairman of the Civic club, said proceeds will be used to purchase equipment for a new community center.

Optimists Picnic Despite the Rain

About 70 Optimist Club members last evening enjoyed a family picnic on the farm of Ira Metcalf near Lucas. Activities included badminton, tennis, archery, darts and horseshoe pitching.

Early in the evening rain forced the Optimists to move picnic tables into the tool shed. John Swank, Roland Frasher and Marshall Moore arranged the picnic.

Program chairmen announced by the club are: For September, Frank Mayer, George C. Kyle; October, A. Pataky, James F. Orr; November, Earl B. Metcalf, William W. Enlow; December, Howard Doner, Fred Huntzman, jr.; January, A. B. Reese, A. E. Sullivan; February, George B. Ganyard, J. Clark Custer.

City Police Ready to Close Books In Abandoned Baby Case

Mansfield police today prepared to close their books in the case of the abandoned baby and send to Ft. Wayne, Ind., officials what information they have been able to glean in a three-day attempt to identify the four-month-old child.

Police Chief Meade K. Bates said that the best "tip" local police will be able to give Indiana authorities concerns a young mother who was reported to have moved to Indiana from an Ohio city with a young child.

The mother apaprently no longer has the child, Bates said. She was reported to have gone to a city some 100 miles from Ft. Wayne, according to Bates.

A baby boy was abandoned in Ft. Wayne last month and police there found a Mansfield Isaly dairy milk bottle and cap near the place where the boy was found.

Working with this evidence and a laundry mark on a baby blanket, police here attempted to help identify the baby for Ft. Wayne authorities.

One of two tips received from local residents failed to lead to the child's identity but the second tip, concerning the young mother, may be valuable, Bates said.

Permits Issued For Home, Cafe

Earl R. and Rose Sharpe, 170 East Third street, were issued a permit yesterday to build a $10,000 five-room brick veneer dwelling house at 900 Cline avenue. The Fred Schmitt Construction company, 430 Overlook road, was listed as contractor.

Tony Sazdanoff was issued a permit to remodel the interior of the building at 37 East Fourth street at an estimated cost of $500. Sazdanoff expects to move his restaurant from 30 East Fourth. Frank Beymer was named as the contractor.

INSPECT 'DREAM' FIRE STATION

City Officials See Model House in Canton; Get Building Ideas.

City officials — including Mayor Roy W. Vaughn—hope that Mansfield's proposed No. 5 fire house will "compare favorably with but won't be quite as glamorous as Canton's relatively new No. 9 house."

Vaughn and other city officials visited fire stations in Canton and Barberton yesterday to get ideas which might be incorporated in the city's new fire house to be located on Marion avenue near Cline avenue.

Canton's residential - type house is a "fireman's dream," according to Fire Chief L. J. Steele. In addition to other "fancy gadgets" it's got cedar-lined blanket closets and specially ventilated clothes-lockers—to blow the smell of smoke off clothes.

"We can build one as good as Canton's—from a practical standpoint," Steele said, "but by eliminating the glamour it won't be nearly as expensive as that station." The Canton station cost about $55,000, he said

An adequate hose-drying tower and tile for lining the building are two of the Canton station's features which Steel said he would like to see adopted for this city's new house.

The tile lining will allow for less expensive maintenance, he said, because it doesn't have to be painted. It can be cleaned with cold water, he said.

Councilman Fred Miller, Service-Safety Director William W. Enlow and City Electrician Ernest Adams were other city officials who inspected the stations.

Mr. Hoover was a member of the Mayflower Memorial church, and a charter member of the Moose lodge.

Surviving are his wife, Addie; three sons, Clarence A. Hoover, Floyd M. Hoover, and Earl L. Hoover; two brothers, James F. and Wade Hoover; one sister, Mrs. Clarence Essick, six grandchildren and two great-grandchildren, all of Mansfield.

SNEEZE SOURCES—

The attractive sumac trees that decorate many Mansfield yards may be the cause of a lot of sneezes for the city's hay fever sufferers. "The sumac is the weed of the tree family, and it is a great fever menace," says Katharine DeHeck, 151 West Third street, who suggests that if all the sumac trees are cut down, much of the hay fever nuisance would be eliminated.

2 BILLS BACK $6,010,000 AID PROGRAM

Governor Expands Assembly Call to Include Action on Homes For Vets.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—The Ohio legislature, with action completed on three special session bills, today pondered a proposal to appropriate $6,010,000 for GI housing.

Identical bills to create a state board of housing were introduced last night in both the senate and house under Gov. Frank J. Lausche's expanded call for action to provide temporary accommodations "direly needed" by veterans and their families.

They would permit payment by the state through the board of 85 per cent of the cost of such housing, exclusive of federal grants, provided local governments carried 15 per cent of the expense.

In addition to a $6,000,000 appropriation, $10,000 was provided to carry out provisions of the act which specified local governments should determine rents on the basis of cost, services furnished and the rent of similar quarters in the open market.

Rep. Walter L. Tarr (R., Hamilton) submitted a resolution in the house asking a substitute bill providing for a direct appropriation of state funds to local governments for veterans' housing.

Ernest J. Bohn, a member of the urban development commission and director of the Cleveland metropolitan housing authority, said previously that Ohio cities had requested 12,500 veterans' housing units but that the federal government had made only 5,100 available.

Cities Lack Funds.

He estimated cities lacked funds to service 8,000 of the units requested and that 655 units already had been suspended for lack of money at Cleveland, Columbus, Akron and Sandusky. Local concontributions currently average $450 a family unit, he said.

The senate shortly after midnight concurred in house amendments to previously-approved measures for allocation to counties of more federal funds to aid dependent children, for state highway department maintenance and repair of the Pomeroy-Mason bridge over the Ohio river after it becomes toll-free in a few weeks, and to permit licensing of World War II physicians and surgeons under relaxed requirements approved by the state medical board.

The senate action on the three emergency measures sent them to the governor for signing.

The senate in a burst of speed also passed and sent to the house all the rest of the governor's original eight-point special session program, except a bill to create a commission to study salaries of state employes. The bill was held in the judiciary committee for debate on proposed amendments.

Other senate-approved measures would:

Increase monthly payments to old age pensioners and the blind from $40 to $50 with the aid of newly-granted federal funds and allow $200 a year additional to recipients for medical, dental and hospital care. The old age pension bill also included optical care in its $200 provision;

Appropriate $15,665 to finance a state-wide hospital survey to enable such institutions to share in federal funds to aid construction or enlargement of hospitals in Ohio, which would receive an estimated $2,500,000 from the U. S. government for such improvements;

Create a 12-member tax study commission to survey the needs of financially hard-pressed local subdivisions and make recommendations to the next regular assembly by Jan. 15. An appropriation of $15,000 was provided for the survey.

Mayor Ready To Ask Vet Housing Aid

Mayor Roy W. Vaughn said today that if Gov. Frank J. Lausche's recommendation that the state spend $6,000,000 for veterans' housing is adopted, he'll do all in his power to procure this city's proportionate share.

Lausche asked the legislature to provide $6 for every $1 appropriated by a municipality to erect federally-allocated housing units for veterans.

Such a program would require Mansfield to put up only about $2,000 should the state aid in erection of the 75 temporary vet apartments for which city council has appropriated $15,000.
